

Hirshberg Foundation Seed Grant Awardees Presentations

UCLA Faculty Center

Sequoia Room

September 20, 2019 (Afternoon)

2:00-2:15: Ms. Agi Hirshberg - Opening remarks

2:15-2:30: Dr. Bill Go – “Hirshberg Foundation Seed Grant Program Progress”

2:30-3:00: Dr. Miklos Sahin-Toth – “Mechanism of genetic risk in chronic pancreatitis”

3:00-3:30: Dr. Shili Xu – “Interferon signaling triggers NAD consumption in pancreatic cancer cells and sensitivity to NAMPT inhibition”

3:30-4:00: Dr. Huan Meng – “Development of Silicasome Nanoparticle Platform for Treatment of Pancreatic Cancer”

4:00-4:30: Dr. Zhao Li – “Magnetic Resonance Nanotheranostics for Pancreatic Cancers by contrast-enhanced magnetic nano particles CA19-9”

4:30-5:00: Photo/Break

5:00-5:30: Dr. David Dawson – “Wnt driven metabolic dependencies in pancreatic cancer”

5:30-6:00: Dr. Shen Hu – “Tracer-based metaboproteomics”

6:00-6:30: Dr. Laszlo Boros – “Deutenomics, the inherent autonomic discrimination of deuterium by Nature: medical implications”

6:30-8:40: Dinner

Subject: 9/20/2019 - Hirshberg Foundation Seed Grant Awardee Presentations

Dear Colleagues,

Attached is the program for the second round of the Hirshberg Foundation Seed Grant Awardees presentation to be held at the UCLA Faculty Center Sequoia Room from 2:00Pm to conclude with dinner. We expanded the presentations to 20 minutes with 10 minutes of discussion.

The program is highlighted by a presentation by Dr. Miklos Sahin-Toth who recently joined the faculty of the Department of Surgery and Dr. Laszlo Boros, LA Biomed Institute, UCLA Harbor Medical Center.

Please RSVP with your fellows and staff for attendance and dinner.

Best Regards,

Vay Liang W. (Bill) Go, M.D. Distinguished Professor of Medicine Co-Director, UCLA Agi Hirshberg Center for Pancreatic Diseases David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA Editor-in-Chief, Pancreas